Certevia® Announces Availability of Cleveland State Community College Online Parenting Class for Divorce

Online Class helps Married or Never Married Parents learn to effectively co-parent after divorce

Fort Myers, FL— 01 October 2018 — Certevia announced immediate availability of Cleveland State Community College Online Parenting Class for Divorce, enabling parents who are Court Ordered to attend a Parenting Class for Divorce to immediately begin studies online rather than traveling to a campus classroom to attend.

“The Cleveland State Class allows students to complete studies online and earn a certificate of completion from the college,” said Sari Lesinski, Program Director at Certevia.

Positive Customer Impact

Many students have already benefited from taking the Cleveland State Community College Online Parenting Class for Divorce. Cleveland State Community College Online Parenting Class for Divorce allows students on mobile devices or desktop computers to take the 4 hours class from anywhere with access to the Internet. Cleveland State Community College Online Parenting Class for Divorce should enable students to better understand and guide their children and families through a divorce or separation and help the family enjoy a healthier outcome in the years ahead.

“I Have Learned A Lot about How to Correctly Manage Problems Me and My Ex Will Have In The Future,” said one student Mom, “and to be very sensitive to our daughter’s needs and feelings through this process.”
